

Table of Contents

Heike Paul
Introduction	1
Hans Vorländer
Populism and Modern Democracy – An Outline.....	13
Frank Decker
Populism in Germany and Abroad	29
Jürgen Gebhardt
“ We the People ”: Popular Sovereignty, National Identity, and the Democratic Principle	45
Michael Hochgeschwender
US-Populism in the Late Nineteenth Century	55
Jack Zhou, D. Sunshine Hillygus, John Aldrich
Understanding the Trump Win: Populism, Partisanship, and Polarization in the 2016 Election.....	65
Laura Vorberg
#BasketofDeplorables : Digital Imagined Communities, Twitter -Populism, and the Cross-Media Effects of Popular Political Social Media Communication in the 2016 US Presidential Election	89
Michael Oswald
Jobs, Free Trade, and a Conspiracy: Trump’s Use of Producerism.....	109
Heike Paul
Authoritarian Populism, White Supremacy, and Volkskörper - Sentimentalism	127
Simon Strick
Right-Wing World-Building: Affect and Sexuality in the ‘Alternative Right’	157

Akwugo Emejulu
Feminism for the 99%: Towards a Populist Feminism?.....	183
Nicole Anna Schneider
Redefining “We, the People”: Black Lives Matter and the Democratization of Political Culture.....	189
Sascha Pöhlmann
Missing the People: Populist Aesthetics and Unpopular Resistance	215
Donatella Izzo
Pop(e)ulism: Populist Miracles and Neoliberal Theologies	235
Carlos de la Torre
What Can We Learn from Latin America to Understand Trump’s Populism?.....	253
Ursula Prutsch
Populism in Brazil: Getúlio Vargas and Jair Bolsonaro.....	275
Notes on Contributors	293