

Table of Contents

Preface	ix
List of Publications under the Auspices of the European Association for American Studies.....	xiii
Acknowledgments	xvii
Introduction	1
I Lyrical Freedom and Institutional Confinement: Following in Pound's Footsteps	43
II Liberalism and Lyricism, or Karl Shapiro's Elegy for Identity	67
Trial of a Poet.....	69
Individualism and Identity	73
Identity as Confession	79
Shapiro's Elegy for Identity.....	83
III Individualism, Auden's Anxiety , and the Liberal Unconscious	95
An Age Takes a Name	96
Auden's Anxiety	104
Pound beyond the Pale.....	120
IV "When conservatism was still a dirty word ...": Modernism, New Conservatism, and Peter Viereck's "Poetry of Ideas".....	127
The Pound Reaction and the Liberal Aesthetic.....	136
Conservatism and Literature: Viereck contra Pound	139
Remembering Viereck: "When conservatism was still a dirty word"	154
Forget Viereck.....	163
V "Pull Down Vanity": Porter, Fiedler, and the Pornographic Imagination (A Prosaic Interlude)	165
Porter: The Passionate Limits of Individualism.....	173
Love and Death at Midcentury.....	189

VI Imaginary Jews and True Confessions: Ethnicity, Lyricism, and John Berryman’s *The Dream Songs*201

 “The Imaginary Jew” and the Mirror of Anti-Semitism205

 Genocide, Poetry, and the Doctrine of Impersonality.....209

The Dream Songs, Impersonation, and Palatable Monstrosity214

 Imaginary Jews, True Confessions, and Ethnicity219

Epilogue.....227

Bibliography233

Index251